WEDNESDAY, MARCH 6, 1889.

MR. BLAINE is oppressively quiet.

WILLIAM HENRY HARRISON MILLER—there is something in a name after all.

THERE is no money in the Indiana treasury to pay the legislators. This is an appropriate time to fast.

A CABLEGRAM from Rome intimates that Ex-Governor Porter, of Indiana, will be minister from the United States to the Eternal City under General Harrison.

A GREAT many newspapers are now moralizing on the defeat of Mr. Cleveland. It is a pity this wisdom was not liberated on the nation before the election occurred.

NOBLE will have fourteen and Whitley twelve delegate votes in the judicial conventions hereafter, and Judge Adair will have to hustle if he holds the honors more than one term.

THE Byrd bill, for the suppression of the pluck-me stores in the mining districts, received the approval of the governor Thursday and is a law. The democrats are keeping faith with the toiling masses.

WASHINGTON dispatches indicate that John I. Dille, of Huntington, will be appointed United States attorney for the federal court at Indianapolis. Mr. Dille was secretary of the republican state central committee.

GOVERNOR HOVEY last Tuesday signed the Andrews election bill and it is now a law. The measure aims to purify the ballot and to prevent bribery and intimidation at the polls. It will be hailed with satisfaction and favor everywhere.

ACCORDING to a New York republican politician, Vice President Morton has contributed $1,455,000 to the party funds since 1872, exclusive of $1,250,000 which he collected in the campaigns of 1880 and 1888. Mr. Morton is a statesman, to be sure.

THE Lacy bribery bill is a law, having received the governor's approval before the senate had reconsidered the vote by which it had passed. We are glad the bill is a law. If vote-buying flourishes in Indiana at the next election, it will not be for want of rigid laws against it.

A BILL of great importance to poor people has passed the state senate. It provides that real estate to the value of $1,000, personal property worth $600 and furniture worth $200 shall be exempt from execution for debt. The present law exempts $400 worth of personal property and $200 worth of furniture.

MR. BARRETT'S ten year street improvement bill was approved last Saturday. Under the provision of this law all incorporated cities and towns can improve streets, assess the property-holders and give them ten years to pay by issuing bonds. The bill applies to the board of public works for the city of Indianapolis. This system of improvement exists in Kansas City, Omaha, and other western cities.

THE John J. O'Brien association, of New York, went to Washinington with colors flying. Mr. O'Brien's banner boasted that his district gave Mr. Tilden 3,713 majority and Harrison 876 majority. Editor Shepard, of the New York Mail and Express, charged that O'Brien received $150,000 of good republican boodle for votes he did not deliver. But Mr. O'Brien was the proudest man in the Harrison column, and could afford to be.

MR. WINDOM is the oldest member of the new cabinet, being very nearly sixty-three years of age. Mr. Miller is the youngest member, not having reached his forty-eighth year. Mr. Blaine and Mr. Rusk are about the same age, fifty-nine. Mr. Proctor is fifty-eight and Mr. Tracy sixty. Next to Mr. Miller the youngest man in the cabinet is Mr. Wanamaker, who is not quite fifty-two. The average of the members of Harrison's cabinet is fifty-seven years. The oldest man who ever entered a cabinet was Lewis Cass, who became Buchanan's secretary of state at seventy-five. Alexander Hamilton was the youngest of all cabinet officers.

AFTER the anti-treating bill had passed the lower house of the Indiana legislature it was defeated in the senate. It is to be sincerely regretted that our members have not recognized it their duty to give the people of the state some protection against the growing vice of intemperance. The democratic majority in the assembly are making a serious mistake in their attitude against temperance legislation, and are driving Christian people from the party lines. Every temperance measure, no matter what its merits were or how good its aims, has been summarily defeated in both branches, and the democratic leaders let slip through their hands some of the grandest opportunities of their lives to place themselves on record as favoring wholesome commonwealth reforms.

THE position of United States treasurer has been tendered to Mr. J. N. Huston, of Indiana, and bribery and all that is dishonest in elections triumphs. Col. W. W. Dudley, treasurer of the national republican committee, and fugitive from justice, in his letter of instruction to the chairmen of county committees in Indiana said: "Your committee will certainly receive from Chairman Huston the financial assistance necessary to hold our floaters and doubtful voters and gain enough of the other kind to give Harrison and Morton 10,000 majority." And then followed the famous direction in this manual of bribery, to "Divide the floaters into blocks of five, and put a trusted man with necessary funds in charge of those five and make him responsible that none get away, and that all vote our ticket." What is Dudley to get for all of this, since his assistant is recognized?

REFORM in the elections of the south is a favorite boast with the republicans. Wherever the baneful influence of their boodle is unknown, and it is always the republican instrument of reform, peace reigns. Before the republican rascals turned their attention to West Virginia strife was unknown and party contention was like it is in the north—of a day's duration. Now, under republican reform, affairs are different. There are four claimants for the gubernatorial chair. Goff, republican, was elected on the face of the returns, but by reason of disputes as to the correctness of the returns, he was not officially declared elected as is required by law, and Fleming, democrat, is contesting the election. Goff qualified the other day before a judge, and Carr, president of the senate, also qualified; but Governor Wilson, whose term has expired, assumes that the law requires him to continue in office until his successor is qualified, or until the Goff-Fleming contest shall be decided. Carr, as president of the senate, claims that there is a vacancy in the office that calls him to the executive chair. A pretty, mess indeed.

BLESSED are they who seeketh not office, for they scrambleth not.

THE failure of the Reading iron works may be the result of the republican campaign assessments.

LAFAYETTE has contracted for natural gas. Fort Wayne will have to hurry the Salamonie company or look to its laurels.

THE Indianapolis News publishes a long list of gentlemen who are seeking federal offices, but not a single name appears from Fort Wayne. This will not do.

THE democrats of the United States senate paid a very handsome compliment to Senator Voorhees in choosing him for temporary president of the senate.

Puck sums the Harrison cabinet up as "Blaine and Boodle." It has a cartoon of the party and, aside from Blaine, portraits of the cabinet officers are given, ensconced in money sacks, appropriately labeled.

C. C. MATSON, of Indiana, late candidate for governor on the democratic ticket, has been appointed general solicitor for the Louisville, New Albany and Chicago railroad. His headquarters will be at Lafayette, and his salary is understood to be $10,000 a year.

MR. ARMOUR, of Chicago, proposes to evade the law prohibiting the shipment of dressed beef into the state, by establishing stations in Indiana for the slaughter of cattle and providing for its inspection as other people will. He has already purchased ground for a slaughter house at Indianapolis.

THE Philadelphia Times puts the democratic position nicely when it says: "That while the opposition will not relax its critical watchfulness of President Harrison, there will be no repetition of that indecent lying and carping and base misrepresentation that so widely characterized the opposition to Mr. Cleveland."

A CONNECTICUT bustle factory has sent Mrs. Harrison the most elegant article in its line. The material is the finest satin, of delicate blue tint and edged with Valenciennes lace. The waist girdle is clasped with a golden buckle. It is a pity that the proprieties would not premit the wearing of such a costly article of feminine attire on the outside.

THE enactment of a high license law by the legislature will have a tendency to decrease the number of saloons in the city and it promises to close a number of places now operated in connection with grocery stores. The law will meet with general public approval and people should see to it that councilmen are chosen from the different wards who are in sympathy with its aims and purposes.

THE Indianapolis News (rep.) roundly condemns President Harrison's cabinet. It criticises Blaine severely and says that if it were known before the election that he was to be secretary of state Harrison would have lost Indiana and New York. It says that the Maine statesman bestrides the whole cabinet and adds: "Outside of Mr. Blaine, a more unknown and unexpected eight could not be found."

DURING the four years the democrats had control of the government and the management of public affairs there was no place for corrupt rings, Star Route thieves, post-trader robbers, or for the other public jobbers which brought so much disgrace upon several previous administrations. There is no stain of that kind on the escutcheon of the democracy and they can point with pride to a clean and honest rule from March 4, 1885 to March 4, 1889.

THE work of the legislature is outlined, at very considerable length, on the inside page, and when people come to consider it calmly, they will concede it to be one of the most useful and important sessions ever held. The laws are general in character, interest every citizen, and aim at some grand and wholesome reforms. Every reader of THE SENTINEL should peruse them carefully, as they regulate human action, and give and take privileges that affect persons and property.

IN the federal court at Washington, D. C., one day last week, the question was put to Col. W. W. Dudley squarely: "Did you, or did you not, write this (blocks-of-five) letter?" Dudley declined to answer, declaring that he "could not do so without criminating himself," and yet the Gazette boasts of honor and proclaims for reforms in the south, while fraud and bribery disgraces its own state and its own party. Here is a "standard of right, equity and justice" almost equal to the theft of the presidency in 1876.

THE country has now two ex-presidents, Hayes and Cleveland, and one ex-vice president, Hannibal Hamlin, but there are six living queens of the White House. They are Mrs. Tyler, who reigned as early as 1844, and is yet living in Georgetown; Mrs. Polk, who succeeded her in 1845, and still lives in the Polk mansion in Nashville; Mrs. Johnson, who, as Harriet Lane, is remembered as one of the most accomplished of our White House mistresses, and is living in Baltimore; Mrs. Grant, who is living in New York; Mrs. Garfield, who is living at Mentor, Ohio; and Mrs. Cleveland, who will become one of Gotham's queens of social life. All the widows of ex-presidents receive a life annuity of $5,000 from the government.

THE state legislature has passed what is termed the kindergarten bill and it will certainly receive the approval of the governor. The purpose of the bill is well indicated by its title, which is, "A bill for an act to provide for the establishment of kindergartens for children between the ages of four and six years of age, in incorporated towns and cities of the state of Indiana." The bill provides in brief that the school board or trustees of a city or town shall be authorized, if they desire, to add to the common schools under their charge a kindergarten department for children between the ages of four and six years, and meet the cost of the same as the cost of other departments of the common schools is met, save that no part part of this cost shall come out of the school funds derived from the state. The local fund must stand the cost. It is to be hoped that Dr. Irwin will add this very important feature to his excellent public school system. We feel sure it will be highly appreciated.

Deafness Can't be Cured

by local application, as they can not reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucus lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube gets inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucus surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by Catarrh) that we can not cure by taking Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

Thurman News.

To the Editor of THE SENTINEL:

The N. S. Society is still in a very flourishing condition. Their last meeting brought such a large attendance that the house was crowded. Their program had excellent points, not the least of which was the selection given by the Ridge Road band. This organization is a new one but does splendidly. The society meets on Wednesday evening of this week, at the residence of Mr. J. Harding. Owing to the poor condition of the roads and the increasing amount of farm work, the society has thought best to disband temporarily. Their farewell meeting will be held one week from this coming Friday; just where has not yet been decided.

Miss N. B. Freeman gave an exhibition at her school house last Tuesday. The attendance was immense, while the arrangement and rendition of the program was fine enough to satisfy even the most critical.

A pleasant surprise party was tendered Mr. John W. Mowrer last Saturday evening, as a parting remembrance of the young people. Mr. Mowrer is a son of County Treasurer Mowrer, and leaves here next Friday for Nebraska, in company with John Douglas. Mrs. Mower starts on Monday, and will be accompanied as far as Chicago by her brother, Mr. Ed Chausse. Their departure is to be regretted, but their many friends join in wishing them success in their new home.

An oyster supper will be given next Saturday evening by Mr. Chris. Vonderau, at his home. PATCH.

A Great Battle.

Is continually going on in the human system. The demon of impure blood strives to gain victory over the constitution, to ruin health, to drag victims to the grave. A good reliable medicine like Hood's Sarsaparilla is the weapon with which to defend one's self, and restore peace and bodily health for many years. Try this peculiar medicine.

Mr. Frank Falker will have official business to detain him at Indianapolis for a week or so yet.

The River Raisin Valley Nursery still at the head. We will call on all our customers this winter and every agent will have a certificate of authority, as some of our agents that left us are taking the advantage of our honest and fair dealing. Address

The "anti-Pinkerton" bill, of which Senator Francis is the author, has been passed by both houses, and is in the hands of the governor. It provides that armed police shall not be imported into Indiana from other states.

Representative Loop's bill providing the better protection of children was passed by the senate yesterday with but little opposition and sent to the governor for his signature. It has the indorsement of all the charity organizations in the state.

The senate begun considering the general appropriation bill at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon, and at 10:30 o'clock last night finally passed it. It was amended in many particulars and will therefore have to go back to the house before it is sent to the governor.

Secretary of State Griffin says that he will astonish the general assembly and those who want to read such literature by having all the laws enacted at this session distributed this year much earlier than ever before. He will have all the copy in Printer Burford's hands by Tuesday.

The Beaver lake land bill was passed by the house late last evening by a vote of fifty-six to thirty-seven. By its provision the swamp lands are to be sold to the present occupants at thirty-seven and one-half cents per acre. This determines a question that has been under litigation in different forms, for over fifty-eight years. The amount the state will realize from the sale of the lands will be about $80,000.

The gossips credit President Harrison with a strict adhearence to civil service law and the pledges of his party. All territorial offices will be filled from the territories, but the railway mail service orders will be modified as far as it relates to reinstatments and examinations for admission. The president says "I would not have a man removed because he belongs to one political party or another, nor would I always give the reason for dismisal."

When fragile woman sighs, deploring
The charms that quickly fade away,
What power, the bloom of health restoring,
Can check the progress of decay?

'Tis "Pierce's Favorite Prescription."

RECEIVING CALLERS.

WASHINGTON, March 6.—Despite the large exodus from the city yesterday and last night, the crowds of inauguration, visitors seem to be but little diminished to-day. The White House was again the mecca, and thousands gathered in and about it, awaiting a chance to be received by President Harrison. There was less excitement than on yesterday, however, and less noise on account of the departure of most of the brass bands that fairly wore themselves out Monday and Tuesday, playing "Hail to the Chief."

At 9:30 when the president came down stairs from his office and entered the east room a thousand people were waiting inside the mansion. Two delegations, of about seventy-five each, representing North Dakota and South Dakota were the first to be received. Other delegations to the number of about 600 were next presented, and then the president went back to his office and worked for a short time. Many persons of prominence were received by him at his desk. Representative Reed, of Maine, called. Representative McComas brought a dozen Maryland republicans. Representatives Henderson, of Iowa, and Thomas, of Illinois, each presented several friends.

Secretary Rusk and Senator Spooner made a brief call and Secretary Proctor and Secretary Noble were at the heads of delegates from their respective states. The other callers were Secretary Windom, Senator Allison, Representatives Dibble, of South Carolina, McRea, of Arkansas, and Wise, of Indiana.

At 11 o'clock the president went to the blue parlor and shook hands with the justices and officers of the supreme court of the United States. Then he went to his desk and about noon again came down to the east room. Here an Indiana delegation of several hundreds were waiting. Representative Brown, of Indiana, who headed the delegation, made a brief speech, in which he told General Harrison that they had come, not to take any of his valuable time, but only to tender, as friends and neighbors, their heartfelt congratulations on his induction to the presidential office.

The president's answer was brief and delivered in an earnest, low tone. Turning to the Indianians he said:

"I desire to return thanks to you for these kind words expressed by General Brown. As I see about me my Indiana friends, I feel the smallness of this house, large as it is, and its inadequacy to accommodate all here during your stay in Washington. I would be glad to extend to all of you a home welcome, such as many of you have often given me. I hope you will all have a safe and confortable return to your home."

The members of the delegation, among which were a number of ladies, were then introduced to General Harrison in turn and each shook hands with him.

She then went up stairs to murder her boy, when a daughter awoke and averted a double tragedy. The woman was insane from sickness.

NEW DOCTORS.

The Fort Wayne College of Medicine Graduates a Class of Ten Students.

The tenth annual commencement of the Fort Wayne College of Medicine took place last evening at the Masonic Temple opera house in the presence of a large and cultured audience, and a class of ten students, who had completed the course prescribed by that institution, were sent out into professional life. At 8 o'clock the faculty of the college, with the speakers of the evening, took seats upon the platform and soon afterward the graduates entered and joined them.

After music from the orchestra Rev. D. W. Moffat, D. D., opened the exercises with prayer. Dr. C. B. Stemen, the dean of the faculty, then delivered the opening address, and was followed by Rev. R. M. Barns with an address to the class upon the subject of "Culture," after which the conferring of degrees by the president of the institution, Hon. Charles McCulloch, followed. After this interesting exercise Prof. I. E. Lyons, of Huntington, delivered the valedictory address to the class and the program of the evening was finished.

The graduating class was from Ohio, Michigan and Indiana and was composed as follows: Hugh Upton, Charles H. Eckert, Walter M. Smalley, John B. Wilson, Charles W. D. Magnus, S. Celia Dupont, Benjamin F. Harding, Henry W. Neiswonger, William Lynch, honorary, and Rev. John T. Newhouse.

The addresses and exercises of the evening were interspersed with music from Reineke's orchestra, and the occasion proved an interesting one to the large number present.

The graduates were a fine looking class of students, and with the medical knowledge which they have gained at this excellent institution, will enter the profession of medicine well qualified for the duties which await them. One of the students graduating was Miss S. Celia Dupont, of Michigan, the only lady in the class and to her belongs the honor of having won the prize offered by the faculty for the best examination in surgery.

The Fort Wayne College of Medicine can be proud of their tenth annual commencement and the class which they this year add to the medical fraternity. The institution is a grand one, and with its magnificent officers and faculty, is growing in attendance and popularity every year.

NATE A. WILSON,

CLEVELAND, Ohio, March 6.—Nathan A. Wilson, secretary of the Cleveland Stove company, was found dead in his office at 3 o'clock, this morning.

The night watchman found him lying with his head on his arm at his desk, covered with blood from a bullet hole in his head.

Letters wers scattered over his desk and the safe door was partly open. Wilson had not removed his overcoat.

His parents live in Fort Wayne, Ind., and his father is president of the company.

Some doubts are expressed as to the cause of his death, but Superintendent Goodrich thinks that Wilson's mind was upset through business cares.

The news of Mr. Wilson's violent death will create a profound sensation in this city, his home The telegram above came via the United Press association, over THE SENTINEL'S special wire.

The first intimation of it came in a message to the family at 3 o'clock this morning, and it said that the young man was seriously ill. His father, Mr. George W. Wilson, left at once for Cleveland.

At the opening of the telegraph office this morning a message came announcing his death, but it gave no particulars.

The sad news was wired to the elder Mr. Wilson, at Toledo, where he had a three hours' wait between trains.

Mr. Wilson was born in Fort Wayne and here grew to honored manhood. He graduated at the high school with the highest honors of his class, and was well regarded with great promise.

Shortly after his school days closed, he went to Cleveland, where his uncle owned a controlling interest in the Cleveland Stove works. His promotion was rapid in the business, and at the death of his uncle three years ago, he assumed the management of the stove company, his father being president.

He was also secretary of the Vapor Stove company, and was held in the highest esteem in business and social circles.

He frequently came to visit his parents, at their home on West Berry street, and remained for days at a time.

Mr. Wilson was thirty-two years old, and unmarried. He was always of a pleasant disposition, enjoyed excellent health and no one ever devined so sad an end for so bright a gentleman.

The family will have the deepest sympathy of the entire community in their affliction.

Supper served from 6 to 8, at the Academy Banner to-night.

OUR LITTLE SON.

Four years old, afflicted with a painful skin disease. Six doctors tried to cure him; all failed. Got worse and worse. Completely cured by one set of Cuticura Remedies, costing $1.75.

Our little son will be four years of age on the 10th inst. In May, 1885, he was attacked with a very painful breaking out of the skin. We called in a physician, who treated him for about four weeks. The child received little or no good from the treatment, as the breaking out, supposed by the physician to be hives in an aggravated form, became larger in blotches, and more and more distressing. We were frequently obliged to get up in the night and rub him with soda in water, strong liniments, etc. Finally, we called other physicians, until no less than six had attempted to cure him, all alike failing, and the child steadily getting worse and worse, until about the 30th of last July, when we began to give him Cuticura Resolvent internally, and the Cuticura, and Cuticura Soap externally, and by the last of August he was so nearly well that we gave him only one dose of the Resolvent about every second day for about ten days longer, and he has never been troubled since with the horrible malady. In all we used less than one half of a bottle of Cuticura Resolvent, a little less than one box of Cuticura, and only one cake of Cuticura Soap.

SCROFULOUS HUMORS.

Last spring I was very sick, being covered with some kind of scrofula. The doctors could not help me. I was advised to try the Cuticura Resolvent. I did so, and in a day I grew better and better, until I am as well as ever. I thank you for it very much, and would like to have it told to the public.

CHOKING CATARRH

Have you awakened from a disturbed sleep with all the horrible sensations of an assassin clutching your throat and pressing the life-breath from your tightened windpipe? Have you noticed the languor and debility that succeed the effort to clear your throat and head of this catarrhal matter? What a depressing influence it exerts upon the mind, clouding the memory and filling the head with pains and strange noises! How difficult it is to rid the nasal passages, throat and lungs of this poisonous mucus all can testify who are afflicted with catarrh. How difficult to protect the system against its further progress towards the lungs, liver and kidneys, all physicians will admit. It is a terrible disease, and cries out for relief and cure.

The remarkable curative powers, when all other remedies utterly fail, of Sanford's Radical Cure, are attested by thousands who gratefully recommend it to fellow-sufferers. No statement is exaggerating it that cannot be substantiated by the most respectable and reliable references.

Each packet contains one bottle of the Radical Cure, one box of Catarrhal Solvent, and an Improved Inhaler, with treatise and directions, and is sold by all druggists for $1.00.

LONG LIFE.

There is nothing in the world more generally desired than long life, yet the majority of people put off caring for their health—not because they are really careless, but because we live our lives at such a pace we have not time to give the subject sufficient thought until we receive a reminder in the shape of a severe illness.

Then, too, we are constantly bewildered by the various schools of medicine, and the physicians who represent them, and often blunder in our choice of a doctor.

If people only knew that the very best health-keeper, life-preserver and disease preventer that has yet been discovered, is simmered down into a concentrated and very palatable form in the shape of New Style Pleasant Taste Vinegar Bitters, they would not hesitate a moment to try it.

But they do not know. How can they know, when so many not only worthless, but positively injurious drugs are constantly flooding the market under various names and guises, that the New Style Vinegar Bitters is as bad as any of them?

They do not know, of course, unless they have the courage to try the New Style. It straightens out a tangled-up system in a very short while, and those who buy it once buy it always.

Why don't you try it, reader? It is sent out by a responsible house, and is exactly as represented. It costs but a dollar for a very large bottle. Try it once and you will never be so glad of anything in your life. Your druggist may not have it, but he will order it for you. Be sure it says New Style Pleasant Taste on carton and bottle before you take it. Try it, and you will feel happier than if you had found a gold mine, for it really is a mine—of health.

Free from alcohol and opium; composed of expensive herbs and roots, with a fine, delicate flavoring.

WRONG USE OF MONEY.

A SERMON OF GREAT POWER BY REV. T. DE WITT TALMAGE.

Some of the Ruinous Methods Adopted to Get Rich—Corrupt Politics—Bribery Begins at Home—Abuse of Trust Funds—It Pays To Be Honest

The Rev. T. De Witt Talmage, preached the morning sermon in the Brooklyn Tabernacle last Sunday. His subject was, "Wrong Uses of Money," and his text, I Timothy vi. 9: "They that will be rich fall into temptation and a snare, and into many foolish and hurtful lusts, which drown men in destruction and perdition."

That, said the learned divine, is the Niagara Falls over which rush a multitude of souls, namely the determination to have money anyhow, right or wrong. Tell me how a man gets his money and what he does with it, and I will tell you his character, and what will be his destiny in this world and the next. I propose to speak this morning about some of the ruinous modes of getting money.

We recently passed through a national election in which it has been estimated that thirty million dollars were expended. I think about twenty million of it were spent in out and out bribery. Both parties raised all they could for this purpose. But that was only on a large scale what has been done on a smaller scale for fifty years and in all departments.

Politics from being the science of good government has often been bedraggled into the synonym for treachery and turpitude. A monster sin, plausible, potent, pestiferous, has gone forth to do its dreadful work in all ages. Its two hands are rotten with leprosy. It keeps its right hand hidden in a deep pocket. The left hand is clenched, and with its ichorous knuckle it taps at the door of the court-room, the legislative hall, the Congress and the Parliament. The door swings open and the monster enters, and glides through the aisle of the council chamber as softly as a slippered page, and then it takes its right hand from its deep pocket and offers it in salutation to judge and legislator. If that hand be taken, and the palm of the intruder cross the palm of the official, the leprosy crosses from palm to palm in a round blotch, round as a gold eagle and the virus spreads, and the doom is fixed, and the victim perishes. Let bribery, accursed of God and man, stand up for trial.

The Bible arraigns it again and again. Samuel says of his two sons who became judges, "They took bribes and perverted judgment." David says of some of his pursuers, "Their right hand is full of bribes." Amos says of some men in his day. "They take a bribe and turn aside the poor in the gate." Eliphaz fortells the crushing blows of God's indignation, declaring, "Fire shall consume the tabernacles of bribery."

It is no light temptation. The mightiest have fallen under it. Sir Francis Bacon, Lord Chancellor of England, founder of our modern philosophy, author of "Novum Organum," and a whole library of books, the leading thinker of his century, so precocious that when a little child he was asked by Queen Elizabeth, "How old are you?" he responded, "I am two years younger than your majesty's happy reign;" of whose oratory Ben Johnson wrote, "The fear of every man that heard him was lest he should make an end;" having an income which you would suppose would put him beyond the temptation of bribery—thirty-six thousand dollars a year, and Twickenham Court a gift, and princely estates in Hertfordshire and Gorhambury—yet under this temptation to bribery falling flat into ruin, and on his confession of taking bribes, giving as excuse that all his predecessors took them he was fined two hundred thousand dollars, or what corresponds with our two hundred thousand dollars, and imprisoned in London Tower. So also Lord Chancellor Macclesfield fell; so also Lord Chancellor Waterbury perished. The black chapter in English, Irish, French, and American politics is the chapter of bribery. Some of you remember the Pacific Mail subsidies. Most of you remember the awful tragedy of the Credit Mobilier. Under the temptation to bribery Benedict Arnold sold the fort in the Highlands for $31,575. For this sin Gorgey betrayed Hungary, Ahithophel forsook David and Judas kissed Christ. When I see so many of the illustrious going down under this temptation, it makes me think of the red dragon spoken of in Revelation, with seven heads and ten horns and seven crowns, drawing a third part of the stars of Heaven down after him. The lobbies of the legislatures of this country control the country. The land is drunk with bribery.

"Oh," says some one, "there's no need of talking against bribery by promise or by dollars, because every man has his price." I do not believe it. Even heathenism and the dark ages have furnished specimens of incorruptibility. A cadi of Smyrna had a case brought before him on trial. A man gave him five hundred ducats in bribery. The case came on. The briber had many witnesses. The poor man on the other side had no witnesses. At the close of the case the cadi said: "This poor man has no witnesses, he thinks; I shall produce in his behalf five hundred witnesses against the other side." And then pulling out the bag of ducats from under the ottoman, he dashed it down at the feet of the briber, saying, "I give my decision against you." Epaminondas, offered a bribe, said: "I will do this thing if it be right, and if it be wrong all your goods cannot persuade me." Fabricius of the Roman Senate was offered a bribe by Pyrrhus of Macedon. Fabricius answered, "What an example this would be to the Roman people; you keep your riches and I will keep my poverty and reputation."

The President of the American Congress during the American Revolution, Gen. Reed, was offered ten thousand guineas by foreign commissioners if he would betray this country. He replied: "Gentlemen, I am a very poor man, but tell your King he is not rich enough to buy me." But why go so far, when you and I, if we move in honorable society, know men and women who by all the concentrated force of earth and hell could not be bribed. They would no more be bribed than you could think of tempting an angel of light to exchange Heaven for the pit. To offer a bribe is villainy, but it is a very poor compliment to the man to whom it is offered.

I have not much faith in those people who go about bragging how much they could get if they would only sell out. Those women who complain that they are very often insulted need to understand that there is something in their carriage to invite insult. There are men at Albany and at Harrisburg and at Washington who would no more be approached by a bribe than a pirate boat with a few cutlasses would dare to attack a British man-of-war with two banks of guns on each side loaded to the touch hole. They are incorruptible men, and they are the few men who are to save the city and save the land. Meanwhile, my advice is to all people to keep out of politics unless you are invulnerable to this style of temptation. Indeed, if you are naturally strong, you need religious buttressing. Nothing but the grace of God can sustain our public men and make them what we wish. I wish that there might come an old-fashioned revival of religion, that it might break out in Congress and in the Legislature and bring many of the leading Republicans and Democrats down on the anxious seat of repentance. That day will come, or something better, for the Bible declares that kings and queens shall become nursing fathers and mothers to the church, and if the greater in authority, then certainly the less.

My charge also to parents is, remember that this evil of bribery often begins in the home circle and in the nursery. Do not bribe the children. Teach them to do that which is right, and not because of the 10 cents or the orange you will give them. There is a great difference between rewarding virtue and making the profits thereof the compelling motive. That man who is honest merely because "honesty is the best policy," is already a moral bankrupt.

My charge is to you, in all departments of life, stear clear of bribery, all of you. Every man and woman at some time will be tempted to do wrong for compensation. The bribe may not be offered in money. It may be offered in social position. Let us remember that there is a day coming when the most secret transaction of private life and of public life will come up for public reprehension. We cannot bribe Death, we cannot bribe sickness, we cannot bribe the grave, we cannot bribe the judgments of that God who thunders against this sin.

"Fie!" said Cardinal Beaufort, "fie! can't Death be hired? is money nothing? must I die, and so rich? if the owning of the whole realm would save me, I could get it by policy or by purchase—by money." No, Death would not be hired then; he will not be hired now. Men of the world often regret that they have to leave their money here when they go away from the world. You can tell from what they say in their last hours that one of their chief sorrows is that they have to leave their money. I break that delusion. I tell that bribe-taker that he will take his money with him. God will wrap it up in your shroud, or put it in the palm of your hand in resurrection, and there it will lie, not the cool, bright, shining gold as it was on the day when you sold your vote and your moral principle, but there it will lie, a hot metal, burning and consuming your hand forever. Or, if there be enough of it for a chain, then it will fall from the wrist clanking the fetters of an eternal captivity. The bribe is an everlasting possession. You take it for time, you take it for eternity. Some day in the next world, when you are longing for sympathy, you will feel on your cheek a kiss. Looking up you will find it to be Judas, who took thirty pieces of silver as a bribe and finished the bargain by putting an infamous kiss on the pure cheek of his divine Master.

Another wrong use of money is seen in the abuse of trust funds. Every man during the course of his life, on a larger or smaller scale, has the property of others committed to his keeping. He is so far a safety deposit, he is an administrator, and holds in his hand the interest of the family of a deceased friend. Or he is an attorney, and through his custody goes the payment from debtor to creditor, or he is the collector for a business house which compensates him for the responsibility; or he is a treasurer for a charitable institution and he holds alms contributed for the suffering; or he is an official of the city or the State or the nation, and taxes, and subsidies, and salaries, and supplies are in his keeping. It is as solemn a trust as God can make it. It is concentred and multiplied confidences. On that man depends the support of a bereft household, or the morals of dependents, or the right movement of a thousand wheels of social mechanism. A man may do what he will with his own, but he who abuses trust funds, in that one act commits theft, falsehood, perjury, and becomes, in all the intensity of the word, a miscreant. How many widows and orphans there are with nothing between them and starvation but a sewing-machine, or held up out of the vortex of destruction simply by the thread of a needle, red with their own heart's blood, who a little while ago had, by father and husband, left them a competency. What is the matter? The administrators or the executors have sacrificed it—running risks with it that they would not have dared to encounter in their own private affairs. How often it is that a man will earn a livelihood by the sweat of his brow, and then die, and within a few months all the estate goes into the stock gambling rapids of Wall street. How often it is that you have known the man to whom trust funds were committed taking them out of the savings bank and trust companies, and administrators, turning old homesteads into hard cash, and then putting the entire estate into the vortex of speculation. Embezzlement is an easy word to pronounce, but it has ten thousand ramifications of horror.

There is not a city that has not suffered from the abuse of trust funds. Where is the court-house, or the city hall, or the jail, or the postoffice, or the hospital, that in the building of it has not had a political job?

Long before the new court-house in New York City was completed, it cost over $12,000,000. Five million six hundred and sixty-three thousand dollars for furniture! For plastering and repairs, $2,370,000. For plumbing and gas works, $1,231,817. For awnings, $23,553. The bills for three months coming to the nice little sum of $13,151,198.39. There was not an honest brick, or stone, or lath, or nail, or foot of plumbing, or inch of plastering, or kalsomine, or door knob in the whole establishment.

That bad example was followed in many of the cities, which did not steal quite so much because there was not so much to steal. There ought to be a closer inspection and there ought to be less opportunity for embezzlement. Lest a man shall take a 5-cent piece that does not belong to him, the conductor on the city horse car must sound the bell at every pavement, and be very cautious about small offenses, but give plenty of opportunity for sinners on a large scale to escape. For a boy who steals a loaf of bread from a corner grocer to keep his mother from starving to death, a prison; but for defrauders who abscond with half a million of dollars, a castle on the Rhine, or, waiting until the offense is forgotten, then a castle on the Hudson!

Another remark needs to be made, and that is that people ought not to go into places, into business, or into positions where the temptation is mightier than their character. If there be large sums of money to be handled and the man is not sure of his own integrity you have no right to run an unseaworthy craft into an euroclydon. A man can tell by the sense of weakness or strength in the presence of a bad opportunity whether he is in a safe place. How many parents make an awful mistake when they put their joys in banking houses and stores and shops and factories and places of solemn trusts, without once discussing whether they can endure the temptation. You give the boy plenty of money and have no account of it, and make the way down become very easy, and you put upon him a pressure that he cannot stand. There are men who go into positions full of temptation, considering only the one fact that they are lucrative positions. I say to young people here this morning, that honesty will not pay in this world or the world to come.

An abbot wanted to buy a piece of ground and the owner would not sell it, but the owner finally consented to let it to him until he could raise one crop, and the abbot sowed acorns, a crop of 200 years! And I tell you, young man, that the dishonesties which you plant in your heart and life will seem to be very insignificant, but they will grow up until they will overshadow you with horrible darkness, overshadow all time and all eternity. It will not be a crop for 200 years, but a crop for everlasting ages.

I stand this morning before many who have trust funds. It is a compliment to you that you have been so intrusted, but I charge you, in the presence of God and the world, be careful: be as careful of the property of others as you are careful of your own. Above all, keep your own private account at the bank separate from your account as trustee of an estate, or trustee of an institution. That is the point at which thousands of people make shipwreck. They get the property of others mixed up with their own property, they put it into investment, and away it all goes, and they cannot return that which they borrowed. Then comes the explosion and the money market is shaken and the press announces and the church thunders expulsion. You have no right to use the property of others except for their advantage, nor without consent, unless they are minors. If with their consent you invest their property as well as you can, and it is all lost, you are not to blame, you did the best you could; but do not come into the delusion which has ruined so many men, of thinking because a thing is in their possession, therefore it is theirs. You have a solemn trust that God has given you. In this vast assemblage there may be some who have misappropriated trust funds. Put them back, or, if you have so hopelessly involved them that you cannot put them back, confess the whole thing to those whom you have wronged, and you will sleep better nights, and you will have the better chance for your soul. What a sad thing it would be if, after you are dead, your administrator should find out from the account books, or from the lack of vouchers, that you were not only bankrupt in estate, but that you lost your soul. If all the trust funds that have been misappropriated should suddenly fly to their owners, and all the property that has been purloined should suddenly go back to its owners, it would crash into ruin every city in America.

A blustering young man arrived at a hotel in the West and he saw a man on the sidewalk, and in a rough way, as no man has a right to address a laborer, said to him, "Carry this trunk up-stairs." The man carried the trunk up-stairs and came down, and then the young man gave him a quarter of a dollar which was marked, and instead of being twenty-five cents it was worth only twenty cents. Then the young man gave his card to the laborer and said, "You take this up to Gov. Grimes; I want to see him." "Ah," said the laborer, "I am Gov. Grimes." "Oh," said the young man, "you—I—excuse me." Then the Governor said: "I was very much impressed by the letter you wrote me asking for a certain office in my gift, and I had made up my mind you should have it; but a young man who will cheat a laborer out of five cents would swindle the government of the State if he got his hands on it. I don't want you. Good morning, sir." It never pays. Neither in this world nor the world to come will it pay.

I do not suppose there ever was a better specimen of honesty than was found in the Duke of Wellington. He marched with his army over the French frontier, and the army was suffering, and he hardly knew how to get along. Plenty of plunder all about, but he commanded none of the plunder to be taken. He writes home these remarkable words: "We are overwhelmed with debts, and I can scarcely stir out of my house on account of public creditors, waiting to demand what is due to them." Yet at that very time the French peasantry were bringing their valuables to him to keep. A celebrated writer says of the transaction. "Nothing can be grander or more nobly original than this admission. This old soldier, after thirty years' service, this iron man and victorious general, established in an enemy's country at the head of an immense army, is afraid of his creditors! This is a kind of fear that has seldom troubled conquerors and invaders, and I doubt if the annals of war present anything comparable to its sublime simplicity."

Oh! is it not high time that we preached the morals of the Gospel, right beside the faith of the Gospel? Mr. Froude, the celebrated English historian, has written of his own country these remarkable words: "From the great house in the city of London to the village grocer, the commercial life of England has been saturated with fraud. So deep has it gone that a strictly honest tradesman can hardly hold his ground against competition. You can no longer trust that any article you buy is the thing which it pretends to be. We have false weights, false measures, cheating, and shoddy everywhere. And yet the clergy have seen all this grow up in absolute indifference. Many hundreds of sermons have I heard in England, many a dissertation on the mysteries of the faith, on the divine mission of the clergy, on bishops and justification, and the theory of good works, and verbal inspiration, and the efficacy of the sacraments; but, during all these thirty wonderful years, never one that I can recollect on common honesty."

Now, that may be an exaggerated statement of things in England, but I am very certain that in all parts of the earth we need to preach the moralities of the Gospel right along beside the faith of the Gospel.

My hearer! What are you doing with that fraudulent document in your pocket? My other hearer! How are you getting along with that wicked scheme you have now on foot? Is that a "pool ticket" you have in your pocket? Why, O young man, were you last night practicing in copying your employer's signature? Where were you last night? Are your habits as good as when you left your father's house? You had a Christian ancestry, perhaps, and you have had too many prayers spent on you to go overboard.

Dr. Livingstone, the famous explorer, was descended from the Highlanders, and he said that one of his ancestors one of the Highlanders, one day called his family around him. The Highlander was dying; he had his children around his death bed. He said: "Now, my lads I have looked all through our history as far back as I can find it, and I have never found a dishonest man in all the line and I want you to understand you inherit good blood. You have no excuse for doing wrong. My lads, be honest."

Ah, my friends, be honest before God be honest before your fellow-men, be honest before your soul. If there be those here who have wandered away come back, come home, come now, one and all, not one exception in all the assemblage, come into the kingdom of God. Come back on the right track. The door of mercy is open and the infinite heart of God is full of compassion Come home! Come home! Oh, I would be well satisfied if I could save some young man this morning, some young man that has been going astray and would like to get back.

I am glad some one has set to music that scene in August of 1881, when young girl saved from death a whole railtrain of passengers. Some of you remember that out west, in that year on a stormy night, a hurricane blew down part of a railroad bridge. A freight train came along and it crashed into the ruin, and the engineer and conductor perished. There was a girl living in her father's cabin near the disaster, and she heard the crash of the freight train, and she knew that in a few moments an express train was due. She lighted a lantern and clambered up on the one beam of the wrecked bridge on to the main bridge, which was trestle work, and started to cross amid the thunder and the lightning of the tempest and the raging of the torrent beneath. One mistep and it would have been death. Amid all that horror the lantern went out. Crawling sometime and sometimes walking over the slippery rails and over the trestle work, she came to the other side of the river. She wanted to get to the telegraph station, where the express train did not stop, so the danger might be telegraphed to the station where the train did stop. The train was due in five minutes. She was one mile off from the telegraph station, but fortunately the train was late. With cut and bruised feet she flew like the wind. Coming up to the telegraph station, panting with almost deathly exhaustion, she had only strength to shout, "The bridge is down," when she dropped unconscious and could hardly be resuscitated. The message was sent from that station to the next station and the train halted, and that night that brave girl saved the lives of hundreds of passengers and saved many homes from desolation.

But every street is a track, and every style of business is a track, and every day is a track, and every night is a track, and multitudes under the power of temptation come sweeping on and sweeping down toward perils raging and terrific. God help us to go out and stop the train. Let us throw some signal. Let us give some warning. By the throne of God let us flash some influence to stop the downward progress. Beware! Beware! The bridge is down, the chasm is deep and the lightnings of God set all the night of sin on fire with this warning: "He, that being often reproved, hardeneth his neck, shall suddenly be destroyed, and that without remedy."

The peculiar, purifying and building up powers of Hood's Sarsaparilla make it the very best medicine to take at this season.

Is This What Ails You?

Do you have dull, heavy headaches, obstruction of the nasal passages, discharges falling from the head into the throat, sometimes profuse, watery, and acrid, at others, thick, tenacious, mucous, purulent, bloody and putrid; eyes weak, watery, and inflamed; ringing in the ears, deafness, hacking or coughing to clear the throat, expectoration of offensive matter, together with scabs from ulcers; voice changed and nasal twang; breath offensive; smell and taste impaired, is there a sensation or dizziness, with mental depression, a hacking cough and general debility? If you have all, or any considerable number of these symptoms, you are suffering from Nasal Catarrh. The more complicated your disease has become, the greater the number and diversity of symptoms. Thousands of cases annually, without manifesting half of the above symptoms, result in consumption, and end in the grave. No disease is so common, more deceptive and dangerous, or less understood, or more unsuccessfully treated by physicians. The manufacturers of Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy, offer, in good faith, a reward of $500 for a case of this disease which they cannot cure. The Remedy is sold by druggists, at only 50 cents.

Reducing the Surplus.

The dispotition of the surplus in the United States treasury engages the attention of our statesmen, but a more vital question has our attention and that is the reduction of the surplus consumption, there has been a marked decrease in the morality from this dreaded disease, and it is possible to still further reduce the number of Consumptives. How? By keeping constantly at hand a bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery and using according to directions, upon the appearance of the first symptoms, such as a Cough, a Cold, a Sore Throat, a Chest, a Side Pain. Thief Arrested.

The news was received with the utmost satisfaction by the community that he had terrorized; but the arrest of a disease that is stealing away a loved and valued life, is an achievement that should inspire heart felt gratitude. Chilliness, cold extremities, depressed spirits, and extremely miserable sensations, with pale, wan features, are the results of disordered kidneys and liver. Arrest the cause at once by taking Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It is a purely vegetable detective, that will ferret out and capture the most subtle lung or blood disorder. Druggists.

should be mild, prompt, and pleasant, with no griping or purgative effects. It should also incite the liver to action, aid digestion, and relieve the kidneys. Like nothing else, Paine's Celery Compound is a perfect laxative, and cures constipation where all other remedies fail.

"As a gentle laxative, Paine's Celery Compound is surely without a peer. I think I ought to know, since I have tried remedy after remedy for about five or six years and have found nothing that equals it in my case of costiveness." J. B. JENKINS, Teacher, Cloyd's Creek, Tenn.

WEDNESDAY, MARCH 6, 1889.

MR. BLAINE is oppressively quiet.

THE general fund in the state treasury is exhausted, and the legislators call in vain for their pay. Treasurer Lemcke says there will be no available funds until the May settlements begin to come in, which may be in April. Fortunately the walking is excellent.

THERE is a powerful lobby at Indianapolis, from Chicago, in the interest of the dressed beef trust, to fight Mr. Eidson's bill requiring the inspection of beef in cities of 5,000 and over. The bill has passed both houses, but a motion was entered in the senate to reconsider its passage. It is said that this lobby is well supplied with the sinews of war. On the other hand, there are many who believe the bill is unconstitutional, and an attempt to fasten protection upon states. A large number of members, who entertain these views, voted for the bill to rebuke the lobby that is fighting it. If the bill becomes a law all beef used in cities of 5,000 and over must be inspected inside the state. Dressed beef from Chicago and other points outside the state can not be shipped to cities of the size above stated. It is contended by some that the supreme court of the United States would hold this unconstitutional as interfering with inter-state commerce.

BIOGRAPHY OF THE CABINET OFFICERS.

Mr. Blaine was born January 31, 1830, at Indian Hill farm, Washington county, Pa. He was educated at Lancaster, Ohio, and at Washington college, Washington, Pa. Mr. Blaine taught school after his graduation, and did newspaper work. In 1858 he was elected to the Maine legislature, of which he was the speaker one term. He went to congress in 1862; re-elected repeatedly and elected in 1869. Made senator in 1877. Was secretary of state in the Garfield administration and the defeated candidate for the presidency in 1884.

William Windom was born in Ohio in 1827. Practiced law in that state. Removed to Minnesota in 1855. During ten years, 1858-68, member of congress. Appointed United States senator in 1870, and elected for full term in 1871. He was re-elected in 1876. Made secretary of the treasury in 1881. Is a capitalist of large means and an able financier. Lives much in New York, but is a citizen of Minnesota.

Ex-Governor Proctor is the leading republican in Vermont, not excluding Edmunds. Was chairman of the Vermont delegation to the Chicago convention last year. Lives at Proctor, a town he founded, situated a few miles from Rutland. Proctor is rich and public-spirited. He owns extensive marble quarries and cultivates a large farm.

William Henry Harrison Miller, former law partner of President Harrison. Born at Augusta, Oneida county, N. Y., about forty-eight years ago. Graduated at Hamilton college when twenty. Taught school. Studied law at Toledo, O., under Mr. Waite, afterwards chief justice. Opened office at Fort Wayne, Ind. Lived there eight years. Went into partnership with General Harrison at Indianapolis in 1874.

John Wanamaker, of Philadelphia, keeps the largest retail store in America. He was born in the Quaker City about fifty-two years ago, of poor parents. His father was a bricklayer. Wanamaker went to work at fourteen years old at $1.50 a week wages. He was advanced and in five years saved $2,000. In 1859 he was made secretary of the Young Men's Christian association, Philadelphia; went into business with a partner in 1861; married partner's sister; partner died twenty years ago, since when Wanamaker has been alone in business. He is a very rich man and an earnest republican, liberal with his money.

Mr. Tracy is fifty-nine years old. He was born in Tioga county, N. Y. A farm lad, then a student, then a lawyer; admitted to the bar in 1851. Elected district attorney, Tioga county, in 1854. Prominent member of the New York assembly, session of 1862. Same year raised two regiments for service in union army; was colonel of one of them; rose to be brigadier general. From 1866 to 1873 United States district attorney for the eastern district of New York. One of counsel in the Beecher trial. Earnest republican and has been several times on party ticket recently.

John Willock Noble was born in Lancaster, O., in 1831. Was at the Miami university a fellow student with President Harrison. Is a graduate of Yale, the class of 1851. Settled in St. Louis as a lawyer in 1855. In 1856 removed to Keokuk, Iowa. Served in the war; was mustered out in 1865 as brigadier general. Returned to St. Louis and recommenced practice. Was made United States district attorney by President Johnson. Resigned the office in 1870. Has practiced law successfully since.

Jeremiah M. Rusk, [illegible] of Wisconsin, was born in Morgan county, Ohio, [illegible] was [illegible] in the war of the rebellion, [illegible] major; rose to be brigadier-general. State bank controller from 1866 to 1870. Member of forty-second, forty-third and forty-fourth Congresses. Elected governor of Wisconsin in 1881 and served three consecutive terms.

THE LEGISLATURE.

It is Passing Some Very Good Bills and Paying Its Respects to the Governor.

INDIANAPOLIS, March 6.—The governor yesterday vetoed the Applegate bill, providing for the election by the general assembly of three trustees for each of the benevolent institutions, and the other veto messages related to the bill for the election of a state house custodian by the legislature. The legislature passed both bills over his veto.

In joint convention in the afternoon the two houses elected David Hough, Noble county, Dennis Uhl, Cass; L. F. Baker, St. Joseph, trustees of the Logansport hospital for the insane.

Custodian of State House—Tim Griffin, four years.

Chief Engineer—Michael H. Cain, four years.

The caucus nominees for trustees of the Indianapolis and Evansville insane hospitals, the blind and deaf and dumb asylums were elected.

The Curtis bill for the management of Indianapolis, passed both houses as amended yesterday.

Passed by the Senate.

The senate passed the following bills: By Senator Brannaman, legalizing gifts, sales and transfers of money or property by incorperated cities or towns; by Mr. Pleasants, for the incorporation of societies not for pecuniary benefit; by Mr. Beasley, appropriating $20,000 to pay debts contracted by Jack Howard while warden of the southern prison; by Mr. Dryer, to legalize all former boards of commissioners of Lagrange county, and by Senator Johnson making it unlawful to sell tobacco to minors under sixteen years of age.

Bills Passed by the House.

The house rushed through several bills, among them the one introduced by Mr. Nolan, providing an appropriation for the current expenses of the hospital for the insane, and Mr. Metzger's bill defining a lawful fence. Senate bills were passed as follows: By Senator Dresser, amending section 73 of an act concerning civil causes; by Senator Barrett, relating to natural gas; by Senator Traylor, encouraging the operation of water works in towns by incorporated associations, and by Senator Griffith, to pay William A. Meloy for services as counsel of the state.

Eight Hours is a Day's Work.

Executions Shall be Secret.

Senator Johnson's bill requiring that hereafter condemned persons shall be executed in one of the state prisons, finally passed the house yesterday. The act does not apply to persons now under sentence of death. It requires that the executions shall take place between midnight and daylight, and shall be witnessed by not more than ten relatives or friends of the condemned person, and the prison officers and two physicians. The act is similar to the Ohio law.

Two More Bribery Bills Passed.

Mr. Reynolds's bill against bribery, applying only to primary elections, has passed the house. It makes unlawful the use of money in any way in the interest of a candidate, and the penalty is a fine of from $25 to $200, with imprisonment for ninety days. The same penalty applies to persons who fraudulently manipulate ballots, tally-sheets or poll-books. The Lacy bribery bill, simular to that of Senator Barrett, was also passed.

Legislative Notes.

Mr. Langstaff's mechanics' lien bill was defeated in the house yesterday.

The senate has passed the house bill, providing for the burial of indigent ex-soldiers at a cost not to exceed $40.

The sale of adulterated vinegar, without being labeled as such, has been made unlawful by an act that has passed both the senate and the house.

The senate refused to consider the appropriation bills yesterday afternoon, but passed the bill providing that the members of the state board of health shall be elected by the legislature instead of appointed by the governor.

The house still defers action on the Beasley resolution, providing for the reinstatement of Representative Linck.

A bill passed regulating the terms of the directors of the prison north.

A long squable prevented immediate consideration of the anti-treating bill, and at the evening session it was indefinitely postponed.

The Cullen bill, which proposed to raise the saloon license fee to $250 in cities and $150 in towns, was defeated in the house yesterday by the usual vote on the liquor question.

The senate confirmed the appointment of Miss Beam as trustee of the woman's reformatory and rejected the appointment of mine inspector.

The militia bill, for which there has been so much lobbying by those interested in the state's military service, was called was called up in the senate last night just before 10 o'clock, and failed to pass for a want of a constitutional majority. The vote was twenty-four to eighteen. The bill passed the house without any serious opposition, and its friends hope to get it through the senate before there is an adjournment.

The Barrett natural gas bill passed the house, after being amended. The bill prohibits the wasting of gas, and prevents the fuel from being piped out of the state. It also requires that the wells which fail to give gas shall be plugged before being abandoned. The object of this is to prevent the flow of salt water, which gas experts claim soon endangers the supply of gas. The act is regarded as a very valuable one by the people who are interested in natural gas.

Don't Get Caught.

This spring with your blood full of impurities, your digestion impaired, your appetite poor, kidneys and liver torpid and whole system liable to be prostrated by disease, but get yourself into good condition, and ready for changing and warmer weather, by taking Hood's Sarsaparilla. It stands unequalled for purifying the blood, giving an appetite and for a general spring medicine.

Mr. R. T. McDonald and family went to New York last night.

Catarrh is a disease so prevalent and of such a distressing and frequently dangerous nature, it is not to be wondered that professed cures are constantly submitted to public notice. The good old Remedy Pond's Extract, tested by forty years of the people's approval, stands however, pre-eminent as a Specific for this complaint. Pond's Extract Catarrh Remedy (75 cents) is specially prepared for acute and sensitive cases. Their Nasal Syringe (25 cents) forms a very efficient mode of application. Procure them from your Druggist.

LONG LIFE.

There is nothing in the world more generally desired than long life, yet the majority of people put off caring for their health—not because they are really careless, but because we live our lives at such a pace we have not time to give the subject sufficient thought until we receive a reminder in the shape of a severe illness.

Then, too, we are constantly bewildered by the various schools of medicine, and the physicians who represent them, and often blunder in our choice of a doctor.

If people only knew that the very best health-keeper, life-preserver and disease preventer that has yet been discovered, is simmered down into a concentrated and very palatable form in the shape of New Style Pleasant Taste Vinegar Bitters, they would not hesitate a moment to try it.

But they do not know. How can they know, when so many not only worthless, but positively injurious drugs are constantly flooding the market under various names and guises, that the New Style Vinegar Bitters is as bad as any of them?

They do not know, of course, unless they have the courage to try the New Style. It straightens out a tangled-up system in a very short while, and those who buy it once buy it always.

Why don't you try it, reader? It is sent out by a responsible house, and is exactly as represented. It costs but a dollar for a very large bottle. Try it once and you will never be so glad of anything in your life. Your druggist may not have it, but he will order it for you. Be sure it says New Style Pleasant Taste on carton and bottle before you take it. Try it, and you will feel happier than if you had found a gold mine, for it really is a mine—of health.

WEDNESDAY, MARCH 6, 1889.

MR. S. M. FOSTER.

He Formulates the Aims of the Indianapolis Tariff Reform League.

When it came to the discussion of the statement of the objects of the Tariff league, at Indianapolis, yesterday, there was protracted discussion. A few gentlemen came near "cornering" the discussion. Ex-Mayor McMaster, A. A. McKain and a few other republicans sat in the rear seats and maintained an eloquent silence. The committee's report contained the following:

The object of the league shall be to to enforce the following views: (1) The present enormous surplus in the national revenues above the republic requirements is demoralizing and dangerous, and should be cut down by removing the burden of taxation from the necessaries of life. (2) The policy of taxing imports, not for revenue, but for the purpose of obstructing trade, is unsound, and well-considered but decisive action, looking to its ultimate abandonment should not longer be deferred.

Mr. Foster, of Fort Wayne, offered the following substitute for the first clause of the objects cited by the committee: "Unnecessary taxation is unjust taxation. The constitution warrants no tax but a revenue tax." To this substitute P. W. Bartholomew, of Indianapolis, proposed the addition of the following: "And believing that the taxes of the government should be limited to its actual necessities, economically administered, and that the necessities of life be freed from taxation as far as possible." Delegates approved the amendment on the ground that Jim Blaine had declared that tobacco is a "necessity," and the supreme court had held that cigars are "necessary." The amendment was lost.

Unnecessary or unequal taxation is unjust taxation. The constitution warrants no tax but a revenue tax, which we believe ought to be levied, with the view of exempting from taxation all necessaries of life.

The substitute was adopted and everybody sighed with relief. The constitution adopted further provides that the league shall be composed of the various tariff reform clubs in the state. Any person may become a member of this league by becoming a member of any local club connected with the league.

TELLING THE NEWS!

Grant Meeks, of the Pittsburg Shops, Injured—Gossip and News From the Busy Centers.

The pay days will will be here next week.

Many of the Washington excursionists passed through the city to-day.

Charles Houser, assistant Wabash baggagemaster, has returned from Waterloo.

Two engines were sent out of the Pittsburg shops to-day after having been repared.

Waldo Dunham is hard at work in the factory of the Fort Wayne Furniture company.

F. W. Greene, traveling passenger agent of the Wabash Western, was in the city to-day.

Some of the employes of the Pittsburg blacksmith shops were off duty yesterday, on account of repairs in the machinery.

George A. Sanderson, representing the Chicago, St. Paul and Kansas railroad, with headquarters in Indianapolis, was in the city to-day.

John Whitaker, assistant general freight agent of the Pennsylvania road, is now on a trip to New Orleans, ten division freight agents accompanying him.

The machine department of the Pittsburg shops was closed down this afternoon, and the employes attended the funeral of Mrs. Fred Mennewisch in a body.

J. A. Nolan, jr., machinist at the Pittsburg shops, proved such a success as a dancer at the masquerade last night that he has concluded to open a dancing school.

Among the boys in the Pittsburg shops, who came in for the honors at the masquerade last night, were Lewis Miller, Fred Olds, Jim Ludington and W. H. Baker.

James Hagerty, assistant yardmaster of the Fort Wayne yards at Chicago, died suddenly of heart disease on Sunday. He was well known to every railroad man running from here to Chicago.

The exemption from broken rails during the past winter has been something which is exciting a good deal of comment. On Indiana roads not an accident has occurred from a broken rail, and on some roads not a broken rail has been found.

Grant Meeks, of the Pittsburg lumber yards, met with an accident yesterday afternoon. He was working around a lumber pile when several heavy planks fell off and onto his leg, severely injuring him about the foot and ankle. The [illegible] was summoned, and he was conveyed to his home. [illegible] kept for some days on account of his injuries.

The Indianapolis Journal has this piece of news: "The train in which President Harrison and his party were carried on Monday last returned to Fort Wayne, and took a party of the employes of the Pennsylvania at that point to Washington, the party leaving Fort Wayne on Friday night."

A noiseless and smokeless locomotive engine has been built at Palmyra, Wis., which perfectly consumes its fuel of coal or wood and re-uses the water at boiling point, the steam after use in the engine being condensed in a new manner. The side motion and jarring felt in the ordinary engine is done away with.

Engineers state that the past winter has been a very troublesome one to them, on account of being compelled to run through fogs almost nightly. On several occasions, when the fogs were very dense, they have had to almost feel their way from one meeting point to another, the headlight being of no assistance whatever.

It is said that the Pittsburg, Fort Wayne and Chicago railway, will put down another track along the line of their present road, from Warsaw to Spring Fountain Park, and will run regular trains to and from that beautiful resort in the village the coming summer. This will be a great convenience to the public.

The new combination sleeping and chair cars purchased by the Grand Rapids and Richmond roads, at Wilmington, Del., are to be fifty-three feet in length, finished on the interior in mahogany, and supplied with ten berths, twenty chairs, and five toilet rooms for ladies and gentlemen. They are painted a rich brown. The coaches will be put on the Grand Rapids and Indiana and Richmond lines in May. Two more fine chair cars will soon be added to the equipment.

It is almost a positive assurance which comes from Chicago that General John McNulta will be the president of the Wabash system as soon as the new organization is effected. He has shown executive ability of the highest order, and has placed the Wabash on a solid basis for future development as one of the best paying roads in the country. The new position will insure him an annual salary of $25,000, and the duties will be less exacting than those of the receivership. Whether the Wabash retains his services or not, it is probable that he will continue in railroad work, as it is hinted that he is wanted as president by another corporation, and one of the largest and wealthiest in America.

General McNulta is quoted as saying that he would rather be president of the Wabash road than governor of Illinois. That he is an active candidate for the presidency of the road is now well understood, but considerable opposition to him is manifesting itself in the east. There are two unfortunate episodes in his management of the property as its receiver. It is alleged that but for his stubbornness the rate war of last year, which proved so disastrous to the earnings, would not have been inaugurated, the Wabash suffering fully as much as any of its competitors. It is also alleged that the Wabash forced the C. B. & Q. into the fight which spread the demoralization in rates throughout the large territory west of Chicago. These are arguments against General McNulta which stockholders opposed to him are endeavoring to use in upsetting the general's calculations. However, it should be said that of late General McNulta has taken advance ground in the matter of restoring and maintaining rates.

GOSSIP FROM THE EAST PITTSBURG YARDS.

The east shops were closed down yesterday.

Over 16,000 cars were repaired in the east yards last year.

Irwin Bryant, a brakeman of the Pittsburg, is quite ill.

Tom O'Connell has resumed his position at the east yards. Tom has the heartfelt sympathy of every one in his sad affliction.

The east yards and shops are building up the territory about them.

Mr. J. C. Pearse is fitting up the Nave restaurant in grand style.

John Lonocker, the well known conductor on the "transfer" in the Pittsburg yards, who was injured recently, is doing nicely.

The Grand Rapids and Indiana road has enjoyed an immense ice traffic for several weeks past. Nottawa and Austin were the main points of shipment.

A train of coke, consisting of forty cars, and with engine and caboose weighs about three million pounds. Mr. C. W. Henderson, of the office of Mr. Will Davis, the yard dispatcher, compiled the figures while the train was passing his office yesterday.

Mr. Will C. Davis, yard dispatcher, introduced a SENTINEL representative to the mysteries of his office yesterday. Under him railroading is a system. He keeps track of the movement of all the train men on the three Pennsylvania roads here, can tell you just where all freight cars on the line are, where they are going, what they are loaded with. He attends to the coal supply on the western division of the Pittsburg and Fort Wayne, directs all the switching, all car transfers to connecting lines here, sees to local freight shipments at this and other points between Crestline and Chicago, and still he is as pleasant as though his duty was a mere song. Mr. Davis has a very competent corps of assistants.

Hood's Sarsaparilla is peculiar to itself and superior to all other preparations in strength, economy, and medicinal merit.

Mr. Carl Peter Swain was doing the city yesterday. He is now a railroad potentate.

OUR LITTLE SON.

Four years old, afflicted with a painful skin disease. Six doctors tried to cure him; all failed. Got worse and worse. Completely cured by one set of Cuticura Remedies, costing $1.75.

Our little son will be four years of age on the 25th inst. In May, 1885, he was attacked with a very painful breaking out of the skin. We called in a physician, who treated him for about four weeks. The child received little or no good from the treatment, as the breaking out, supposed by the physician to be hives in an aggravated form, became larger in blotches, and more and more distressing. We were frequently obliged to get up in the night and rub him with soda in water, strong liniments, etc. Finally, we called other physicians, until no less than six had attempted to cure him, all alike failing, and the child steadily getting worse and worse, until about the 20th of last July, when we began to give him Cuticura Resolvent internally, and the Cuticura, and Cuticura Soap externally, and by the last of August he was so nearly well that we gave him only one dose of the Resolvent about every second day for about ten days longer, and he has never been troubled since with the horrible malady. In all we used less than one half of a bottle of Cuticura Resolvent, a little less than one box of Cuticura, and only one cake of Cuticura Soap.

CHOKING CATARRH

Have you awakened from a disturbed sleep with all the horrible sensations of an assassin clutching your throat and pressing the life-breath from your tightened chest? Have you noticed the languor and debility that succeed the effort to clear your throat and head of this catarrhal matter? What a depressing influence it exerts upon the mind, clouding the memory and filling the head with pains and strange noises! How difficult it is to rid the nasal passages, throat and lungs of this poisonous mucus all can testify who are afflicted with catarrh. How difficult to protect the system against its further progress towards the lungs, liver and kidneys, all physicians will admit. It is a terrible disease, and cries out for relief and cure.

The remarkable curative powers, when all other remedies utterly fail, of Sanford's Radical Cure, are attested by thousands who gratefully recommend it to fellow-sufferers. No statement is [illegible] garding it that cannot be substantiated by the most respectable and reliable references.

Each packet contains one bottle of the Radical Cure, one box of Catarrhal Solvent, and an Improved Inhaler, with treatise and directions, and is sold by all druggists for $1.00.

Keller; on introduction, George Strodel, Gottleib Haller and Henry Ortman. The management of the floor was excellent and was in the hands of F. A Black Friday.—That day, when a person is first seriously attacked with rheumatism, may well be termed a black one, for he will remember the same as long as he lives. If he uses Salvatton Oil in time, he will, however, soon be able to speak of a "Good Friday."

"Ah me"! sighed Potts, "I'm tired of living,
The world is hollow, ambition's vain."
"Come now"! said his chum, "I know the symptoms;
It's all your liver—that's very plain.
You need not suffer for help is easy;
Pierce's Pellets go right to the place.
'A friend to the bilious,'" I well might call them—
There's nothing better; they'll suit your case."
Potts ceased his sighing and bought the "Pellets."
No more he mourned his hapless lot!
His face is cheerful, his heart is lightsome,
His melancholy is quite forgot!

RECEIVING CALLERS.

WASHINGTON, March 6.—Despite the large exodus from the city yesterday and last night, the crowds of inauguration visitors seem to be but little diminished to-day. The White House was again the mecca, and thousands gathered in and about it, awaiting a chance to be received by President Harrison. There was less excitement than on yesterday, however, and less noise on account of the departure of most of the brass bands that fairly wore themselves out Monday and Tuesday, playing "Hail to the Chief."

At 9:30 when the president came down stairs from his office and entered the east room a thousand people were waiting inside the mansion. Two delegations, of about seventy-five each, representing North Dakota and South Dakota were the first to be received. Other delegations to the number of about 600 were next presented, and then the president went back to his office and worked for a short time. Many persons of prominence were received by him at his desk. Representative Reed, of Maine, called. Representative McComas brought a dozen Maryland republicans. Representatives Henderson, of Iowa, and Thomas, of Illinois, each presented several friends.

Secretary Rusk and Senator Spooner made a brief call and Secretary Proctor and Secretary Noble were at the heads of delegates from their respective states. The other callers were Secretary Windom, Senator Allison, Representatives Dibble, of South Carolina, McRae, of Arkansas, and Wise, of Indiana.

At 11 o'clock the president went to the blue parlor and shook hands with the justices and officers of the supreme court of the United States. Then he went to his desk and about noon again came down to the east room. Here an Indiana delegation of several hundreds were waiting. Representative Brown, of Indiana, who headed the delegation, made a brief speech in which he told General Harrison that they had come, not to take any of his valuable time, but only to tender, as friends and neighbors, their heartfelt congratulations on his induction to the presidential office.

The president's answer was brief and delivered in an earnest, low tone. Turning to the Indianians he said:

"I desire to return thanks to you for these kind words expressed by General Brown. As I see about me my Indiana friends, I feel the smallness of this house, large as it is, and its inadequacy to accommodate all here during your stay in Washington, I would be glad to extend to all of you a home welcome, such as many of you have often given me. I hope you will all have a safe and comfortable return to your home."

The members of the delegation, among which were a number of ladies, were then introduced to General Harrison in turn and each shook hands with him.

CUT OFF HIS HEAD.

A Wisconsin Woman Decapitates Her Husband With an Ax.

OCONOMOWOC, Wis., March 6.—Last night Mrs. Driscoll, wife of a farmer, living four miles from here, cut off her husband's head with an ax, while he was asleep in bed.

She had the ax, a razor and a butcher-knife concealed under the bed and waited till the family were all asleep, then took the ax and raised for the blow five different times before she nerved herself to strike the one that caused instant death. She then went up stairs to murder her boy, when a daughter awoke and averted a double tragedy. The woman was insane from sickness.

TEMPLE, Tex., March 6.—An awful tragedy was enacted on the streets here yesterday. Alfred and Herbert Rother engaged in a general fight with Tom and Hugh Mattock. The latter was killed outright and Tom Mattock is dying. Alfred Rother was shot in the arm.

NEW DOCTORS.

The Fort Wayne College of Medicine Graduates a Class of Ten Students.

The tenth annual commencement of the Fort Wayne College of Medicine took place last evening at the Masonic Temple opera house in the presence of a large and cultured audience, and a class of ten students, who had completed the course prescribed by that institution, were sent out into professional life. At 8 o'clock the faculty of the college, with the speakers of the evening, took seats upon the platform and soon afterward the graduates entered and joined them.

After music from the orchestra Rev. D. W. Moffat, D. D., opened the exercises with prayer. Dr. C. B. Stemm, the dean of the faculty, then delivered the opening address, and was followed by Rev. R. M. Barns with an address to the class upon the subject of "Culture," after which the conferring of degrees by the president of the institution, Hon. Charles McCulloch, followed. After this interesting exercise Prof. I. E. Lyons, of Huntington, delivered the valedictory address to the class and the program of the evening was finished.

The graduating class was from Ohio, Michigan and Indiana and was composed as follows: Hugh Upton, Charles H. Eckert, Walter M. Smalley, John B. Wilson, Charles W. D. Magnus, S. Celia Dupont, Benjamin F. Harding, Henry W. Neiswonger, William Lynch, honorary, and Rev. John T. Newhouse.

The addresses and exercises of the evening were interspersed with music from Beineke's orchestra, and the occasion proved an interesting one to the large number present.

The graduates were a fine looking class of students, and with the medical knowledge which they have gained at this excellent institution, will enter the profession of medicine well qualified for the duties which await them. One of the students graduating was Miss S. Celia Dupont, of Michigan, the only lady in the class and to her belongs the honor of having won the prize offered by the faculty for the best examination in surgery.

The Fort Wayne College of Medicine can be proud of their tenth annual commencement and the class which they this year add to the medical fraternity. The institution is a grand one, and with its magnificent officers and faculty, is growing in attendance and popularity every year.

NATE A. WILSON.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, March 6.—Nathan A. Wilson, secretary of the Cleveland Stove company, was found dead in his office at 3 o'clock, this morning.

The night watchman found him lying with his head on his arm at his desk, covered with blood from a bullet hole in his head.

Letters were scattered over his desk and the safe door was partly open. Wilson had not removed his overcoat.

His parents live in Fort Wayne, Ind., and his father is president of the company.

Some doubts are expressed as to the cause of his death, but Superintendent Goodrich thinks that Wilson's mind was upset through business cares.

The news of Mr. Wilson's violent death will create a profound sensation in this city, his home. The telegram above came via the United Press association, over THE SENTINEL'S special wire.

The first intimation of it came in a message to the family at 3 o'clock this morning, and it said that the young man was seriously ill. His father, Mr. George W. Wilson, left at once for Cleveland.

At the opening of the telegraph office this morning a message came announcing his death, but it gave no particulars.

The sad news was wired to the elder Mr. Wilson, at Toledo, where he had a three hours' wait between trains.

Mr. Wilson was born in Fort Wayne and here grew to honored manhood. He graduated at the high school with the highest honors of his class, and was well regarded with great promise.

Shortly after his school days closed, he went to Cleveland, where his uncle owned a controlling interest in the Cleveland Stove works. His promotion was rapid in the business, and at the death of his uncle three years ago, he assumed the management of the stove company, his father being president.

He was also secretary of the Vapor Stove company, and was held in the highest esteem in business and social circles.

He frequently came to visit his parents, at their home on West Berry street, and remained for days at a time.

Mr. Wilson was thirty-two years old, and unmarried. He was always of a pleasant disposition, enjoyed excellent health and no one ever dreamed so sad an end for so bright a gentleman.

The family will have the deepest sympathy of the entire community in their affliction.

WEDNESDAY, MARCH 6, 1889.

MR. BLAINE is oppressively quiet.

THE general fund in the state treasury is exhausted, and the legislators call in vain for their pay. Treasurer Lemcke says there will be no available funds until the May settlements begin to come in, which may be in April. Fortunately the walking is excellent.

THERE is a powerful lobby at Indianapolis, from Chicago, in the interest of the dressed beef trust, to fight Mr. Eidson's bill requiring the inspection of beef in cities of 5,000 and over. The bill has passed both houses, but a motion was entered in the senate to reconsider its passage. It is said that this lobby is well supplied with the sinews of war. On the other hand, there are many who believe the bill is unconstitutional, and an attempt to fasten protection upon states. A large number of members, who entertain these views, voted for the bill to rebuke the lobby that is fighting it. If the bill becomes a law all beef used in cities of 5,000 and over must be inspected inside the state. Dressed beef from Chicago and other points outside the state can not be shipped to cities of the size above stated. It is contended by some that the supreme court of the United States would hold this unconstitutional as interfering with inter-state commerce.

BIOGRAPHY OF THE CABINET OFFICERS.

John Wanamaker, of Philadelphia, keeps the largest retail store in America. He was born in the Quaker City about fifty-two years ago, of poor parents. His father was a bricklayer. Wanamaker went to work at fourteen years old at $1.50 a week wages. He was advanced and in five years saved $2,000. In 1859 he was made secretary of the Young Men's Christian association, Philadelphia; went into business with a partner in 1861; married partner's sister; partner died twenty years ago, since when Wanamaker has been alone in business. THE LEGISLATURE.

It is Passing Some Very Good Bills and Paying Its Respects to the Governor.

INDIANAPOLIS, March 6.—The governor yesterday vetoed the Applegate bill, providing for the election by the general assembly of three trustees for each of the benevolent institutions, and the other veto messages related to the bill for the election of a state house custodian by the legislature. The legislature passed both bills over his veto.

In joint convention in the afternoon the two houses elected David Hough, Noble county, Dennis Uhl, Cass; L. F. Baker, St. Joseph, trustees of the Logansport hospital for the insane.

Chief Engineer—Michael H. Cain, four years.

The caucus nominees for trustees of the Indianapolis and Evansville insane hospitals, the blind and deaf and dumb asylums were elected.

The Curtis bill for the management of Indianapolis, passed both houses as amended yesterday.

Passed by the Senate.

The senate passed the following bills By Senator Brannaman, legalizing gifts, sales and transfers of money or property by incorporated cities or towns; by Mr. Pleasants, for the incorporation of societies not for pecuniary benefit; by Mr. Beasley, appropriating $20,000 to pay debts contracted by Jack Howard while warden of the southern prison; by Mr. Dryer, to legalize all former boards of commissioners of Lagrange county, and by Senator Johnson making it unlawful to sell tobacco to minors under sixteen years of age.

Bills Passed by the House.

The house rushed through several bills, among them the one introduced by Mr. Nolan, providing an appropriation for the current expenses of the hospital for the insane, and Mr. Metzger's bill defining a lawful fence. Senate bills were passed as follows: By Senator Dresser, amending section 73 of an act concerning civil causes; by Senator Barrett, relating to natural gas; by Senator Traylor, encouraging the operation of water works in towns by incorporated associations, and by Senator Griffith, to pay William A. Meloy for services as counsel of the state.

Eight Hours is a Day's Work.

Mr. Langstaff's eight-hour bill passed the senate yesterday, only eleven members voting against it.

Executions Shall be Secret.

Senator Johnson's bill requiring that hereafter condemned persons shall be executed in one of the state prisons, finally passed the house yesterday. The act does not apply to persons now under sentence of death. It requires that the executions shall take place between midnight and daylight, and shall be witnessed by not more than ten relatives or friends of the condemned person, and the prison officers and two physicians. The act is similar to the Ohio law.

Two More Bribery Bills Passed.

Mr. Reynolds's bill against bribery, applying only to primary elections, has passed the house. It makes unlawful the use of money in any way in the interest of a candidate, and the penalty is a fine of from $25 to $200, with imprisonment for ninety days. The same penalty applies to persons who fraudulently manipulate ballots, tally-sheets or poll-books. The Lacy bribery bill, similar to that of Senator Barrett, was also passed.

Legislative Notes.

Mr. Langstaff's mechanics' lien bill was defeated in the house yesterday.

The senate has passed the house bill, providing for the burial of indigent ex-soldiers at a cost not to exceed $40.

The sale of adulterated vinegar, without being labeled as such, has been made unlawful by an act that has passed both the senate and the house.

The senate refused to consider the appropriation bills yesterday afternoon, but passed the bill providing that the members of the state board of health shall be elected by the legislature instead of appointed by the governor.

The house still defers action on the Beasley resolution, providing for the reinstatement of Representative Linck.

A bill passed regulating the terms of the directors of the prison north.

A long squabble prevented immediate consideration of the anti-treating bill, and at the evening session it was indefinitely postponed.

The Cullen bill, which proposed to raise the saloon license fee to $250 in cities and $150 in towns, was defeated in the house yesterday by the usual vote on the liquor question.

The senate confirmed the appointment of Miss Beam as trustee of the woman's reformatory and rejected the appointment of mine inspector.

The militia bill, for which there has been so much lobbying by those interested in the state's military service, was called was called up in the senate last night just before 10 o'clock, and failed to pass for a want of a constitutional majority. The vote was twenty four to eighteen. The bill passed the house without any serious opposition, and its friends hope to get it through the senate before there is an adjournment.

The Barrett natural gas bill passed the house, after being amended. The bill prohibits the wasting of gas, and prevents the fuel from being piped out of the state. It also requires that the wells which fail to give gas shall be plugged before being abandoned. The object of this is to prevent the flow of salt water, which gas experts claim soon endangers the supply of gas. The act is regarded as a very valuable one by the people who are interested in natural gas.

Don't Get Caught.

This spring with your blood full of impurities, your digestion impaired, your appetite poor, kidneys and liver torpid and whole system liable to be prostrated by disease, but get yourself into good condition, and ready for changing and warmer weather, by taking Hood's Sarsaparilla. It stands unequalled for purifying the blood, giving an appetite and for a general spring medicine.

Mr. R. T. McDonald and family went to New York last night.

Catarrh is a disease so prevalent and of such a distressing and frequently dangerous nature, it is not to be wondered that professed cures are constantly submitted to public notice. The good old Remedy Pond's Extract, tested by forty years of the people's approval, stands however, pre-eminent as a Specific for this complaint. Pond's Extract Catarrh Remedy (75 cents) is specially prepared for acute and sensitive cases. Their Nasal Syringe (25 cents) forms a very efficient mode of application. Procure them from your Druggist.

The Knights of St. Charles drilled at St. Mary's hall last evening.

Would use Kemp's Balsam for the throat and Lungs. It is curing more cases of coughs, colds, asthma, bronchitis, croup and all throat and lung troubles, than any other medicine. The proprietor has authorized my druggist to give you a sample bottle free to convince you of the merit of this great remedy. Large bottles 50c and $1.

CHURCHILL COUNTY, Nevada, is in danger of breaking in two. A crack has recently appeared three feet wide, several miles long, and how deep no one can find out.

HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA

The importance of purifying the blood cannot be overestimated, for without pure blood you cannot enjoy good health.

At this season nearly every one needs a good medicine to purify, vitalize, and enrich the blood, and Hood's Sarsaparilla is worthy your confidence. It is peculiar in that it strengthens and builds up the system, creates an appetite, and tones the digestion, while it eradicates disease. Give it a trial.

Hood's Sarsaparilla is sold by all druggists. Prepared by C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.

LONG LIFE.

There is nothing in the world more generally desired than long life, yet the majority of people put off caring for their health—not because they are really careless, but because we live our lives at such a pace we have not time to give the subject sufficient thought until we receive a reminder in the shape of a severe illness.

Then, too, we are constantly bewildered by the various schools of medicine, and the physicians who represent them, and often blunder in our choice of a doctor.

If people only knew that the very best health-keeper, life-preserver and disease preventer that has yet been discovered, is simmered down into a concentrated and very palatable form in the shape of New Style Pleasant Taste Vinegar Bitters, they would not hesitate a moment to try it.

But they do not know. How can they know, when so many not only worthless, but positively injurious drugs are constantly flooding the market under various names and guises, that the New Style Vinegar Bitters is as bad as any of them!

They do not know, of course, unless they have the courage to try the New Style. It straightens out a tangled-up system in a very short while, and those who buy it once buy it always.

Why don't you try it, reader? It is sent out by a responsible house, and is exactly as represented. It costs but a dollar for a very large bottle. Try it once and you will never be so glad of anything in your life. Your druggist may not have it, but he will order it for you. Be sure it says New Style Pleasant Taste on carton and bottle before you take it. Try it, and you will feel happier than if you had found a gold mine, for it really is a mine—of health.

WEDNESDAY, MARCH 6, 1889.

MR. N. M. FOSTER.

He Formulates the Aims of the Indiana Tariff Reform League.

When it came to the discussion of the statement of the objects of the Tariff league, at Indianapolis, yesterday, there was protracted discussion. A few gentlemen came near "cornering" the discussion. Ex-Mayor McMaster, A. A. McKain and a few other republicans sat in the rear seats and maintained an eloquent silence. The committee's report contained the following:

The object of the league shall be to to enforce the following views: (1) The present enormous surplus in the national revenues above the republic requirements is demoralizing and dangerous, and should be cut down by removing the burden of taxation from the necessaries of life. (2) The policy of taxing imports, not for revenue, but for the purpose of obstructing trade, is unsound, and well-considered but decisive action, looking to its ultimate abandonment should not longer be deferred.

Mr. Foster, of Fort Wayne, offered the following substitute for the first clause of the objects cited by the committee: "Unnecessary taxation is unjust taxation. The constitution warrants no tax but a revenue tax." To this substitute P. W. Bartholomew, of Indianapolis, proposed the addition of the following: "And believing that the taxes of the government should be limited to its actual necessities, economically administered, and that the necessities of life be freed from taxation as far as possible." Delegates approved the amendment on the ground that Jim Blaine had declared that tobacco is a "necessity," and the supreme court had held that cigars are "necessary." The amendment was lost.

Unnecessary or unequal taxation is unjust taxation. The constitution warrants no tax but a revenue tax, which we believe ought to be levied, with the view of exempting from taxation all necessaries of life.

The substitute was adopted and everybody sighed with relief. The constitution adopted further provides that the league shall be composed of the various tariff reform clubs in the state. Any person may become a member of this league by becoming a member of any local club connected with the league.

TELLING THE NEWS!

Grant Meeks, of the Pittsburg Shops, Injured—Gossip and News From the Busy Centers.

Tile pay days will will be here next week.

Many of the Washington excursionists passed through the city to-day.

Charles Houser, assistant Wabash baggagemaster, has returned from Waterloo.

Two engines were sent out of the Pittsburg shops to-day after having been repaired.

Waldo Dunham is hard at work in the factory of the Fort Wayne Furniture company.

F. W. Greene, traveling passenger agent of the Wabash Western, was in the city to-day.

Some of the employees of the Pittsburg blacksmith shops were off duty yesterday, on account of repairs in the machinery.

George A. Sanderson, representing the Chicago, St. Paul and Kansas railroad, with headquarters in Indianapolis, was in the city to-day.

John Whitaker, assistant general freight agent of the Pennsylvania road, is now on a trip to New Orleans, ten division freight agents accompanying him.

The machine department of the Pittsburg shops was closed down this afternoon, and the employes attended the funeral of Mrs. Fred Mennewisch in a body.

J. A. Nolan, jr., machinist at the Pittsburg shops, proved such a success as a dancer at the masquerade last night that he has concluded to open a dancing school.

Among the boys in the Pittsburg shops, who came in for the honors at the masquerade last night, were Lewis Miller, Fred Olds, Jim Lindington and W. H. Baker.

James Hagerty, assistant yardmaster of the Fort Wayne yards at Chicago, died suddenly of heart disease on Sunday. He was well known to every railroad man running from here to Chicago.

The exemption from broken rails during the past winter has been something which is exciting a good deal of comment. On Indiana roads not an accident has occurred from a broken rail, and no some roads not a broken rail has been found.

Grant Meeks, of the Pittsburg lumber yards, met with an accident yesterday afternoon. He was working around a lumber pile when several heavy planks fell off and onto his leg, severely injuring him about the foot and ankle. The Lily was summoned, and he was conveyed to his home, where he will be kept for some days on account of his injuries.

The Indianapolis Journal has this piece of news: "The train in which President Harrison and his party were carried on Monday last returned to Fort Wayne, and took a party of the employes of the Pennsylvania at that point to Washington, the party leaving Fort Wayne on Friday night."

A noiseless and smokeless locomotive engine has been built at Fulwyn, Wis., which perfectly consumes its fuel of coal or wood and re-uses the water at boiling point, the steam after use in the engine being condensed in a new manner. The side motion and jarring felt in the ordinary engine is done away with.

Engineers state that the past winter has been a very troublesome one to them, on account of being compelled to run through fogs almost nightly. On several occasions, when the fogs were very dense, they have had to almost feel their way from one meeting point to another, the headlight being of no assistance whatever.

It is said that the Pittsburg, Fort Wayne and Chicago railway, will put down another track along the line of their present road, from Warsaw to Spring Fountain Park, and will run regular trains to and from that beautiful resort in the village the coming summer. This will be a great convenience to the public.

The new combination sleeping and chair cars purchased by the Grand Rapids and Richmond roads, at Wilmington, Del., are to be fifty-three feet in length, finished on the interior in mahogany, and supplied with ten berths, twenty chairs, and five toilet rooms for ladies and gentlemen. They are painted a rich brown. The coaches will be put on the Grand Rapids and Indiana and Richmond lines in May. Two more fine chair cars will soon be added to the equipment.

It is almost a positive assurance which comes from Chicago that General John McNulta will be the president of the Wabash system as soon as the new organization is effected. He has shown executive ability of the highest order, and has placed the Wabash on a solid basis for future development as one of the best paying roads in the country. The new position will insure him an annual salary of $25,000, and the duties will be less exacting than those of the receivership. Whether the Wabash retains his services or not, it is probable that he will continue in railroad work, as it is hinted that he is wanted as president by another corporation, and one of the largest and wealthiest in America.

General McNulta is quoted as saying that he would rather be president of the Wabash road than governor of Illinois. That he is an active candidate for the presidency of the road is now well understood, but considerable opposition to him is manifesting itself in the east. There are two unfortunate episodes in his management of the property as its receiver. It is alleged that but for his stubbornness the rate war of last year, which proved so disastrous to the earnings, would not have been inaugurated, the Wabash suffering fully as much as any of its competitors. It is also alleged that the Wabash forced the C. B. & Q. into the fight which spread the demoralization in rates throughout the large territory west of Chicago. These are arguments against General McNulta which stockholders opposed to him are endeavoring to use in upsetting the general's calculations. However, it should be said that of late General McNulta has taken advance ground in the matter of restoring and maintaining rates.

GOSSIP FROM THE EAST PITTSBURG YARDS.

The east shops were closed down yesterday.

Over 16,000 cars were repaired in the east yards last year.

Irwin Bryant, a brakeman of the Pittsburg, is quite ill.

Tom O'Connell has resumed his position at the east yards. Tom has the heartfelt sympathy of every one in his sad affliction.

The east yards and shops are building up the territory about them.

Mr. J. C. Pearse is fitting up the Nave restaurant in grand style.

John Lonocker, the well known conductor on the "transfer" in the Pittsburg yards, who was injured recently, is doing nicely.

The Grand Rapids and Indiana road has enjoyed an immense ice traffic for several weeks past. Nothewa and Austin were the main points of shipment.

A train of coke, consisting of forty cars, and with engine and caboose weighs about three million pounds. Mr. C. W. Henderson, of the office of Mr. Will Davis, the yard dispatcher, compiled the figures while the train was passing his office yesterday.

Mr. Will C. Davis, yard dispatcher, introduced a SENTINEL representative to the mysteries of his office yesterday. Under him railroading is a system. He keeps track of the movement of all the train men on the three Pennsylvania roads here, can tell you just where all freight cars on the line are, where they are going, what they are loaded with. He attends to the coal supply on the western division of the Pittsburg and Fort Wayne, directs all the switching, all car transfers to connecting lines here, sees to local freight shipments at this and other points between Crestline and Chicago, and still he is as pleasant as though his duty was a mere song. Mr. Davis has a very competent corps of assistants.

Hood's Sarsaparilla is peculiar to itself and superior to all other preparations in strength, economy, and medicinal merit.

Mr. Carl Peter Swain was doing the city yesterday. He is now a railroad potentate.

A Great Surprise.

Is in store for all those who use Kemp's Balsam for the throat and lungs, the great guaranteed remedy. Would you believe that it is sold on its merits and that any druggist is authorized by the proprietor of this wonderful remedy to give you a sample bottle free? It never fails to cure acute pain or chronic coughs. All druggists sell Kemp's Balsam. Large bottles 50c and $1.

The Edison Mutual Telegraph company's lines are again in operation after a couple of days break.

OUR LITTLE SON.

Four years old, afflicted with a painful skin disease. Six doctors tried to cure him; all failed. Got worse and worse. Completely cured by one set of Cuticura Remedies, costing $1.75.

Our little son will be four years of age on the 29th inst. In May, 1888, he was attacked with a very painful breaking out of the skin. We called in a physician, who lanced him for about four weeks. The child received little or no good from the treatment, as the breaking out, supposed by the physician to be due to an aggravated form, became larger in blotches, and more and more distressing. We were frequently obliged to get up in the night and rub him with soda in water, strong liniments, etc. Finally, we called other physicians, until no less than six had attempted to cure him, all alike failing, and the child steadily getting worse and worse, until about the 29th of last July, when we began to use the Cuticura Resolvent internally, and the Cuticura, and Cuticura Soap externally, and by the last of August he was so nearly well that we gave him only one dose of the Resolvent about every second day for about ten days longer, and he has never been troubled since with the least mistake. In all we used less than one half of a bottle of Cuticura Resolvent, a little less than one box of Cuticura, and only one cake of Cuticura Soap.

SCROFULOUS HUMORS.

Last spring I was very sick, being covered with some kind of scrofula. The doctors could not help me. I was advised to try the Cuticura Resolvent. I did so, and in a day I grew better and better, until I am as well as ever. I thank you for it very much, and would like to have it told to the public.
KIRK HOFMANN, North Attleboro, Mass.

Cuticura, the great skin cure, and Cuticura Soap prepared from it, externally, and Cuticura Resolvent, the new blood purifier, internally, are a positive cure for every form of skin and blood disease, from pimples to scrofula.

Sold everywhere. Price, Cuticura, 50c.; Soap, 25c.; Resolvent, $1. Prepared by the Potter Drug and Chemical Company, Boston, Mass.

CHOKING CATARRH

Have you awakened from a disturbed sleep with all the horrible sensations of an assassin clutching your throat, almost stopping the life-breath from your tightened chest? Have you noticed the languor and debility that succeed the effort to clear your throat, and head of this catarrhal matter? What a depressing influence it exerts upon the mind, clouding the memory and filling the head with pains and strange noises! How difficult it is to rid the nasal passages, throat and lungs of this pernicious mucus all can testify who are afflicted with catarrh. How difficult to protect the system against its further progress towards the lungs, liver and kidneys; all physicians will admit. It is a terrible disease, and cries out for relief and cure.

The remarkable curative powers, which all other remedies utterly fail of, Sanford's Radical cure, are attested by thousands, who gratefully recommend it to fellow-sufferers. Statement 14 | garding it that cannot be substantiated by the most respectable and reliable references.

Each packet contains one bottle of the Radical cure, one box of Catarrhal Solvent, and an improved Inhaler, with treatise and directions, and is sold by all druggists for $1.00.

Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Nursing Mothers, the Weak and Debilitated.

Put up in this style. I have used Johann Hoff's Malt Extract for the past five years in my private practice and have found it to be the best health restoring beverage and tonic nutritive known. I have found it especially good for persons convalescing from fever, in cases of dyspepsia, for mothers nursing, and in cases of weak children, and also in lung troubles. My attention was drawn by the immense importation semi-monthly, and about a million of bottles imported by you have passed my inspection in the Custom House satisfactorily for the past ten years.

Yours respectfully,

The world is hollow, ambition's vain."
"Come now"! said his chum, "I know the symptoms;
It's all your liver—that's very plain.
You need not suffer for help is easy;
Pierce's Pellets go right to the place.
'A friend to the billous,' I well might call them—
There's nothing better; they'll suit your case."
Potts ceased his sighing and bought the "Pellets."
No more he mourned his hapless lot!
His face is cheerful, his heart is lightsome,
His melancholy is quite forgot!
